The Second Wave of COVID-19 had engulfed the country, and it posed a serious threat to the health and well-being of children.

Since the COVID-19 pandemic had affected the country all in terms of scale, speed of spread and impact, as a measure of response, SOS Children's Villages Of India has developed different strategies to cater to the emerging health and humanitarian crisis among the most vulnerable and disadvantaged children, families and communities. To combat with current situation SOS Children's Villages Of India had developed strategies to cater to the emerging health and humanitarian crisis among the most vulnerable and disadvantaged children, which includes distribution of oxygen concentrators, medical kits and other essentials.

SOS Children's Villages Of India reached out to 27,000 children including their caregivers across 10,000 families in 22 States of India with the ultimate aim to help them rebuild their lives and communities. Depending on the specific requirements, SOS India extended recovery assistance to prevent further damage and loss, repair essential services, protect health, provide psycho-social support, restore livelihoods, and enhance food security.

Yuvaditya understood the dynamics behind the organization and volunteered to raise funds for SOS in 2021 launched a campaign to raise funds to help the children of SOS Children's Village Of India to help them fight there battle with COVID-19 with his initiative YouWeTogether.

YouWeTogether, a social initiative that provides sports equipment's to underprivileged sports enthusiasts. It is a platform where we provide professional help by identifying talented, passionate sports lovers deprived of opportunities to flourish as sportspeople.

I appreciate the way he independently undertook the responsibility of contacting potential donors and how he persistently followed up with them, not taking no for an answer.

Yuvaditya's tireless efforts resulted in a collection of USD 2264.97 the highest collected by our batch of volunteers in 2021. The money generated from this drive is being used for the sponsorship of the students in the villages across India, for their education and living expenses including school uniforms, textbooks and clothes. Yuvaditya's commitment towards the cause and his sincerity with which he carried out the campaign is truly commendable.

I have observed Yuvaditya closely during his association with SOS Children's Villages and he comes across as an intelligent and a self-motivated individual who has shown a lot of tenacity to continue this activity, without losing his composure. His positivity and sincerity of purpose was displayed through each activity he undertook. I wish him all the very best and whole heartedly recommend him to your institution.
